

Dennis Moody Catches Studio Projects Fever

SP C4 Matched-Pair Condensers Revives Dennis's Love for His Restored 1936 Chickering Grand

Los Angeles, California

June 5, 2010

Grammy nominated and platinum award winning engineer and producer Dennis Moody has established himself as one of the industry's foremost talents. Having participated on well over 1,000 albums, Moody is highly regarded on the international music scene as a skilled and versatile engineer and producer.

At his aptly named Dennis Moody Studio in the glorious Mt. Washington section of Los Angeles, he's hosted the likes of The Rhythm Dogs (featuring Jeff Babco, Jimmy Earl, and Tom Brechtlein), Jennifer Love Hewitt, Boney James, Christian McBride and many more. One of the studio's centerpieces is a 1936 Chickering 9' grand piano that has been painstakingly refurbished.

"People just love it, it plays well.", explained Moody, "It was a huge investment for me, and we were excited to get it over here but I was a little depressed because it didn't record well, it sounded great but I just couldn't get it to record well". "I tried a lot of mics just trying to find something that would work well on this piano and when I put up the Studio Projects C4's I couldn't believe it; they solved every other issue I had with every other mic. They sounded great, nice full tone, phenomenal", said Dennis, "I love recording this piano now and the Studio Projects C4 solution made it happen for me."

The Studio Projects C4 pair comes with cardioid, hyper-cardioid and omni directional capsules. With the switched 10dB pad in, the C4 can handle SPLs to 150dB! Boasting an extremely smooth and natural response, acoustic music professionals like Dennis Moody are delighted to find the Studio Projects C4 microphones a beautiful sonic solution for difficult or subtle micing applications.

Dennis helped new up-and-coming vocalist/musician Sara Radle track her new record, Four, due out in September. He used the T3 and CS5 on vocals for the album. Dennis is back in the studio after finished touring with jazz guitarist Mike Stern.
